Statesville N.C. Start-Up Offers Turnkey Industrial Finishing Systems

United Finishing Systems LLC offers custom turnkey finishing solutions for electrocoating, powder coating and liquid coating.

United Finishing Systems LLC (Statesville, N.C.), a new start-up provider of turnkey industrial finishing systems has opened for business. The company will focus on the southeastern U.S and offers full industrial automatic powder and paint finishing systems, and batch systems, as well as service on all manufacturers' powder and wet paint lines. In addition to new finishing systems, the company can provide retrofits to existing systems.

United Finishing System's philosophy revolves around customization and service. "Whether you need an electro-coating, powder coating, or liquid coating system, we offer custom solutions to meet your requirements. Our approach to powder coating and liquid finishing systems is first to listen — we hear the needs of our customer," says Alwyn Moody, president. "And then we draw on our team's collective experience to create versatile, adaptable, efficient and effective surface treatment lines."

The team at United Finishing Systems comprises more than 100 years of combined finishing experience for industrial, furniture, heavy truck and bus, and automotive tier suppliers.
